

The Worm

One day, a little worm crawled up from its home in the ground. It poked its head out three times.

Place your index finger through the fingers of your other hand to mimic the worm. Let the worm poke its head out three times. Count.

1 . . . 2 . . . 3.

I ate the worm!

Pretend to eat the worm.

Help! It's trying to get out! Watch it poke my left cheek.

From inside the mouth, poke tongue in left cheek.

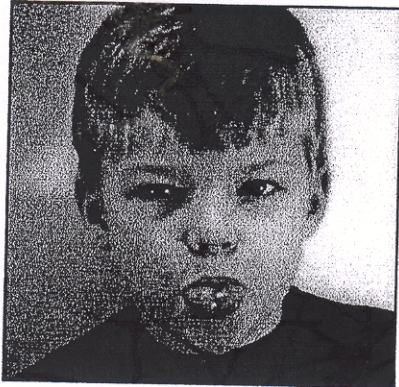

Now watch it poke my right cheek.

From inside the mouth, poke tongue in right cheek.

Watch the worm go around and around.

From inside the mouth, run tongue in a circle behind lips.

Ooops! It got away!

Stick out tongue.
