

Block Play

by Linda Mawhinney &
Mary Scott McTeague

Stack blocks with your child. Practice "my turn" and "your turn." Say, "up" as you add each block and "down" or "boom" as they fall down. Knock the stack down with a toy car or a figure. Tell the toy, "Go-go-go; Boom; All fall down; Again?"

Make a train with the blocks and practice "Choo-choo."

Put blocks into a shape sorter or make one of your own. Cut a block-sized hole into the top of a shoe box, oatmeal box, or any plastic container. Practice turn-taking. Tell the blocks, "in; boom; all done." If you hold all the blocks in your lap, your child can practice "more; please; my turn."

Play a sound imitation game with the blocks. Hold the blocks near your mouth and say a sound, then toss it into the container. Hand your child a block and see if he/she imitates the same sound.
